Circle Express Limited ("the Carrier") is not a common carrier and accepts goods for carriage subject to the Conditions of Carriage ("the Conditions") set out below which may only be varied in writing signed by a Director of the Carrier.

1. Definitions

In these Conditions

"Trader" means the customer who contracts for the services of the Carrier.

"Contract" means the contract of carriage for the transit agreed between the Trader and the Carrier.

"Consignment" means goods (including any packings and equipment associated therewith) in bulk or contained in one or more parcel, package or container, as the case may be, sent at one time in one load by or for the Trader from one address to one address.

2. Customers Obligations

The Trader warrants that he is either the owner of the goods in any Consignment or is authorised by such owner to accept these Conditions on such owners behalf.

The Trader warrants that each article comprised in the Consignment has been properly described to the Carrier and that the Consignment has been properly marked, addressed and packaged so as to ensure at all times safe storage and transportation and sufficient to safeguard each article against all the risks of normal handling in the course of such storage and transportation.

3. Routes Sub Contractors and Employees

Unless otherwise agreed in writing, the method and route of the carriage shall be at the absolute and sole discretion of the Carrier.

The Carrier may, unless otherwise instructed by the Trader before commencement of the carriage, sub-contract all or any part of the Contract.

The Carrier contracts for itself and as agent of and trustee for its employees, agents and sub-contractors and their employees and agents and every reference to "the Carrier" shall be deemed to include every such employee and agents and sub-contractor with the intention that they shall have the benefit of these Conditions.

4. Dangerous Goods

If the Carrier agrees to accept dangerous goods for carriage, such goods must be accompanied by a full declaration of their nature and contents and be properly and safely packaged and labelled in accordance with any statutory regulations for the time being in force for carriage by road.

Goods shall be construed as dangerous goods if either alone or in conjunction with any other goods of any description danger arises or there is a risk it may arise during the carriage or storage of such goods or during their collection or delivery.

5. Loading, Unloading and Transit

The Carrier shall be under no obligation to provide appliances plant power or labour which in addition to the Carrier's driver may be required to load or unload the Consignment.

The transit shall commence when the Carrier takes possession of the Consignment whether at the point of collection or at the Carrier's premises.

The transit shall be completed when the Carrier tenders the Consignment on the carrying vehicle at the street door of the address specified for delivery in the Contract.

Once the transit is complete the Consignment shall be and remain at the sole risk of the Trader.

Should the Trader or consignee ask the driver to take the Consignment into their premises, they do so at their own risk and the Trader shall indemnify the Carrier against all claims and demands whatsoever arising by reason of the Carrier's compliance with the Trader's or consignee's request.

The Trader or consignee shall not give any instructions to the driver requiring delivery of the Consignment or part of it to an address other than that specified in the Contract. Should such instructions nevertheless be given and followed the Trader shall indemnify the Carrier against all claims demands and expenses which arise by reason of the Carrier's compliance with the Trader's or consignee's instructions.

The Trader shall be liable for the cost (calculated at the Carrier's hourly rate) to the Carrier of unreasonable detention of vehicles and drivers at the Trader's or consignee's premises. The Carrier's decision as to when detention becomes unreasonable shall be final.

6. Consignment Notes

The Carrier shall, if so required, sign a document prepared by the Trader acknowledging the receipt of the Consignment but such document shall not be evidence of the condition or of the correctness of the declared nature, quantity, or weight of the Consignment at the time it is received by the Carrier.

Unless otherwise agreed by the Carrier, any Consignment handed to the Carrier without the gross weight being stated on the consignment note shall be charged at an estimated or actual weight at the Carrier's discretion.

The endorsement of the words "not checked" or "unexamined" (or different words to the same effect) on a consignment note shall not render the Carrier liable for any shortage or damage subsequently discovered. The proof of delivery (POD) shall remain the property of the Carrier at all times and will only be disclosed upon specific request.

Twelve months after delivery the Carrier may destroy the consignment note and thereafter its absence shall not be held against the Carrier.

The Trader warrants that any description of weight shall be deemed to be the gross weight of the Consignment for any purpose for which the Carrier may rely on such description.

Any costs fines or expenses resulting from any misdescription shall be reimbursed to the Carrier by the Trader on demand.

7. Carriers Charges

The Trader will be liable for all charges as set out in the Carrier's current schedule and rates sheet unless variations are agreed in writing by a Director of the Carrier before commencement of the carriage.

Consignments will be charged at the rate of 6 cu metres equals 1000 kilos or the actual gross weight whichever is the greater. Deliveries to docks, wharfs and container bases are only accepted by prior agreement and may be subject to surcharge.

The charges rendered by the Carrier (including VAT) shall be paid by the Trader in full when due without any deductions or deferment in respect of any claim, counterclaim, set off or otherwise. In event that such charges remain outstanding after the due date for payment the Carrier shall be entitled to charge the Trader interest at the rate of 8% above the Bank of England base rate at the due date for payment calculated on a daily basis from the due date until payment of the outstanding sum is made in full.
